All-County Basketball Team Selected From Ballots Cast By Local Coaches

5 Schools Named On First String

Monroe, Williamsport Get Top Honor Nods

A well-balanced, smooth combination of Pickaway County's top basketball scorers has been selected for this year's All-County honor basketball team.

No one team dominated this year's All-County squad, selected Wednesday by the coaches of the 11 county league schools.

Lester Sanders of Monroe's championship cage team earned highest honors in this year's All-County team balloting, having been named on every ballot cast in the selection.

Sanders, smooth-working guiding star for the champion Monroe team, received a total of 75 votes in this year's All-County team balloting. Highest possible total was 110 votes.

By virtue of his outstanding scoring on this year's voting, Sanders might well be named theoretical captain of the 1951 All-County honor team.

RANKING NEXT to Sanders on the honor team was Ronnie Wilson, sharpshooting ace of the Ashville Bronco basketball team. Wilson received 61 votes. Harley Evans, Atlanta's scoring star who showed so well in the 1951 county tournament, was next in the balloting this year with 56 points.

Fourth member of the All-County honor team is Clarence Hastings of Williamsport. "Biggy" won high-scoring laurels in this year's regular league play and received 41 votes in the All-County team voting.

Last member of the first-honored team selected by the coaches is New Holland's Walter Hessel, glasses-wearing sharpshooter who aided his Bulldog aggregation in earning third place in

Reds May Never Be Ready For Europe War—Clay

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Gen. Lucius D. Clay told Congress today that "Russia would have launched World War III by now if they were ready" and that if America helps Europe rearm rapidly they "may never be ready."

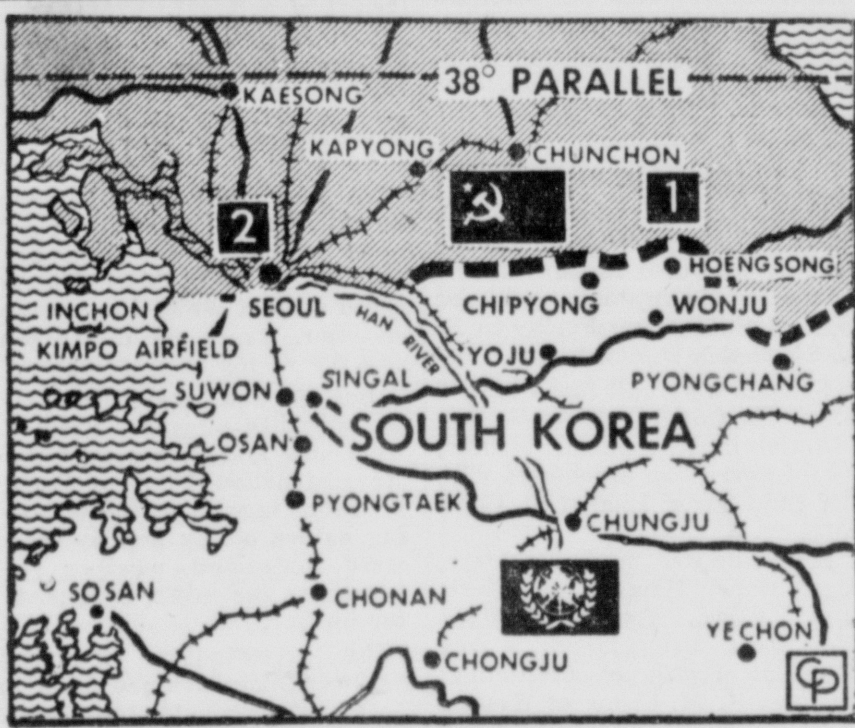

The former U. S. military commander in Germany testified in final public hearings on the troops-for-Europe issue. He expressed belief that Congress already has approved sending ground forces in its ratification of the North Atlantic Pact.

Clay said that in his opinion "Western Europe has recognized that it must contribute," but that this was not true in 1947 when he was in Germany and it appeared that Communism would sweep Western Europe.

He said congressional approval without limitation now would indicate the "bold and vigorous leadership which should be our course today."

Meanwhile, Former President Herbert Hoover's complaint that Western Europe has not done its full share in the defense project drew a sharp denial from Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Connally, (D) Tex.

Connally retorted that

A VIRTUAL ROUT of two North Korean Red corps on the eastern front is being quickly followed up by UN forces. Fighting through mud and swollen rivers, Allied troops hurled back Chinese Reds at Hoengsong (1) while, to the southeast, the major enemy setback was staged near Pyongsang. Meanwhile, the advance on Seoul (2) encountered determined resistance from the enemy force.

RED TIMETABLE IS UPSET

Mid-Korean Lateral Road Is Taken By Allied Force

TOKYO, March 1—(Thursday)—United Nations troops seized control of a vital stretch of mid-Korean lateral road Wednesday and aggressive American patrols slashed at enemy positions in all directions to keep Communist forces off balance on the central front.

UN armored columns jabbed at enemy defense points in central Korea with the aim of upsetting the timetable of an anticipated all-out Red offensive.

Tenth Corps troops slogged through the mire on rain-soaked hills on the east-central front to clamp a stranglehold on most of the Hoengsong-Pangnim lateral highway. Rearguard enemy units sought without success to block the Allied advance in running fights.

U. S. Marines ran into enemy fire two miles east of Hoengsong. Other leatherneck patrols, however, probed the flanks of Chinese forces holding a horse-shoe defense line north, east and west of Hoengsong but reported no contact.

A TENTH CORPS spokesman said enemy concentrations were spotted north of the corps front at several points, but stressed that the enemy did not appear to be forming for an immediate counter attack.

South Korean Third Division troops slashed the lateral a few miles west of Haanlung by driving the Communists from high ground commanding the road and repulsing a battalion-sized attack.

Haanlung lies on the 24-mile long east-west highway about half way between Pangnim and Hoengsong. Hoengsong, at the western end of the road, is 50 miles east of Seoul and 34 miles south of the 38th Parallel.

U. S. Second Division troops ground out advances to points six and eight miles east of Haanlung, dispersing an unknown number of the enemy.

The eastern end of the road was secured by the U. S. Seventh Division which took high ground six miles west and five miles north of Pangnim.

The U. S. First Cavalry Division, fighting near Yongdu, 37 miles east of Seoul, made the largest gains Wednesday. The cavalrymen advanced 2,000 yards against "light" resistance to take a hill south of Yongdu.

Despite cloudy weather and rain storms, reconnaissance pilots flew across enemy lines and reported that an estimated 1,000 Reds were dug in north of the junction of the Han and Pukhan rivers, 16 miles east of the Korean capital.

MURKY WEATHER did not hinder Far East Airforce Superforts, however. Using radar, the B-29s plastered 160 tons of bombs on rail and supply targets at Hamhung and Chongjin in North Korea.

The rains made the Central Korean battle ground a virtual quagmire through which the Tenth Corps slipped and slid to grind out its gains.

Far to the west, an infantry patrol from the American Third Division hammered across the Han river into the suburbs of Seoul Tuesday night, engaged in a brief fire fight with Chinese de-

Carrier Brings Formosa Alert

TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 28—Chinese Nationalist airplanes were alerted today when an aircraft carrier, at first unidentified, was sighted 20 miles off the west coast of Formosa.

Officials on Formosa, last remaining stronghold of Nationalist China, declined identity of the ship but Reuters said the carrier could have been the HMS Warrior, due in Hong Kong later today from an undisclosed mission in Korean waters.

CRIME REPORT DETAILED

'Underworld Government' Exists In America Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—The Kefauver Crime Committee said today that there exists in America an "underworld government" which "enforces its own law and carries out its own executions."

It said that the Mafia—the dread "Black Hand Society"—may be the force that holds together the far-flung crime empire.

The committee declared: "If there can be said to be one head who sits as an arbiter of any disputes between the two (syndicates), it is Charles 'Lucky' Luciano, who is now in Italy but who maintains association with both groups through his former racketeer affiliates."

In its second interim report, the Senate Crime Investigating Committee headed by Sen. Kefauver, (D) Tenn., said that the nation's criminal gangs have amassed great wealth, infiltrated legitimate business and "sought to purchase respectability."

The "underworld government," the committee said, nearly took over the state government of Missouri in 1948. It cited political contributions to the campaign of Gov. Forrest Smith.

ALSO CITED in the report was Gov. Fuller Warren of Florida, where the Capone gang moved in and took over a local syndicate.

The report said there was "no direct evidence" of protection payments to high officials, but added: "The committee, however, points to the apparent connection between the $100,000 contributed to the gubernatorial campaign of Fuller Warren by William Johnston, an associate of Capone mobsters, and the designation by the governor of W. O. Crosby as investigator to conduct gambling raids, which, by a peculiar coincidence, only involved S. and G. Syndicate bookies.

"The raids ceased as soon as (Harry) Russell, an associate of Johnston in the Capone mob, was taken in as a member of S. and G."

Citing what it termed the "connivance of local authorities," the committee said "it was no secret that:"

1. The Missouri state government "narrowly escaped falling under the control of gangsters with criminal affiliations in 1948. The racket contamination in Missouri finally erupted in the double murder of Charles Binaglio and Charles Gargotta."

2. In New York and nearby New Jersey "the most notorious hoodlums were operating a chain of gambling houses that showed, conservatively, profits of five to 10 millions a year."

3. In Chicago, the head of a nationwide racing wire service (James A. Ragen) was ambushed and killed after a dispute with a gang of criminals who were trying to take over control of his lucrative service.

4. From time to time meetings "of notorious character" like Frank Costello, Joe Adonis, Meyer Lansky and Willie Moretti would be held in such resorts as Miami Beach, Hot Springs and Phoenix.

WITHOUT "CONNIVANCE" of public officials, these conditions would not prevail, the committee said.

Ohioans Resisting Meat Prices, Butchers Report

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28—Ohio housewives are joining other women shoppers throughout the nation in resisting present meat prices.

Chester Newcomb, regional director of the American Meat Institute, said there has been a slowdown in the meat trade for the last two or three weeks.

Newcomb, president of the Cleveland Provision Co., said his company had reduced slaughtering of hogs by 25 percent in the last two weeks.

He admitted that a 15 percent drop in meats is normal for the Lenten season, but he added that the present drop "is more than normal."

A spokesman for the Cleveland Union Stockyards said livestock prices throughout the country have fallen in the last three days with hogs down 50 cents per hundred weight in Cleveland.

MANPOWER GOAL GOING UP

2 More Guard Divisions May Get Active Duty Call

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, told Congress today that two more National Guard divisions may have to be called up for active duty this year.

Collins informed the House Armed Services Committee that it is "entirely possible that I may have to recommend" such action to the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Collins added, however, that if the two divisions are called up, it will not be until after July 1.

So far, six of the 27 National Guard divisions have been called up by the Army for active duty, as well as three of the 21 regimental combat teams.

Collins' disclosures were made during a committee hearing on draft legislation. Chairman Vinson, (D) Ga., expressed the hope the committee could complete the hearings this week and report out a bill shortly.

At the same time, Defense Secretary Marshall's hint that the military may raise its manpower goal to four million threatened to enflame Senate debate on the Draft-Universal Military Training bill.

Marshall indicated that the military is thinking in terms of a second boost in its manpower objectives in a letter to Sen. Johnson, (D) Tex., floor manager of the Draft-UMT bill.

The secretary said that unless

18-year men are available for the draft, the military would have no "reasonable assurance of filling" a force of "four million men or larger if necessity requires it."

This disclosure came on the heels of an announcement by Sen. Morse, (R) Ore., that he will attempt to amend the Draft-UMT bill to prevent the military from reaching even its present objective of 3.4 million men.

Morse accused the Pentagon of an "unconscionable waste" of manpower. He said he will propose a ceiling of three or 3.1 million men. Sen. Taft, (R) Ohio, has called for a three million-man limit.

These developments crashed hopes of Democratic leaders for final action on the bill this week. However, Johnson said voting on amendments might start late in the week.

MARSHALL AND Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, wrote Johnson to reiterate their support of the Senate bill to start inductions at 18 and defer 75,000 men a year for college.

Both said that Bradley misunderstood the question when he gave the House Armed Services Committee Monday the impression he would accept its proposal to start inductions at 18 and one-half.

Next Big 4 Meeting Seen Cracking Iron Curtain

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Diplomatic observers considered today the possibility that the proposed Paris meeting of the Big Four deputy foreign ministers might lead to a crack in the Iron Curtain.

Hope that some free discussion between nations of the Soviet sphere and the West can be established is based on the belief that Russia will yet accept the invitation to the meeting of deputies.

The U. S., Britain and France asked Moscow to participate in the meeting to draw up agenda for a full dress Big Four talk to be held this Summer.

Although more than a week has elapsed since the three Western powers proposed the Paris meeting, scheduled for March 5, Russia has not replied. It is doubtful if the deputies could be assembled by the scheduled time, but the meeting still could be held sometime next month.

The top level meeting had been proposed by Russia last Fall to deal with the question of German demilitarization and unification only. The Western Powers countered with a suggestion that a talk be held, in Washington, to deal with all outstanding tensions between East and West.

THE U. S. HOPES, responsible officials say, that the whole

Wage Board Assistance Is Weighed

10 Pct. Pay Hike Ceiling Approved

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Organized Labor faces today the crucial decision of whether it will again participate in the government's efforts to stabilize wages.

This problem was tossed into its lap when Economic Stabilizer Johnston approved last night the proposed 10 percent wage increase ceiling with recommendations for changes intended to satisfy Labor's demands.

The United Labor Policy Committee was meeting today to discuss the question of whether to return to the tripartite Wage Stabilization Board. A decision may be announced after this meeting.

But informed Labor sources were not too optimistic over the prospect for a favorable decision.

This is the labor situation: 1. Johnston has approved the 10 percent wage ceiling which the Wage Stabilization Board adopted on the night of Feb. 15. This ceiling is already in effect. 2. However, Johnston has made recommendations to the board for changes in the wage formula which some informed sources regard as thoroughgoing concessions to Labor's demands for flexibility.

3. Still he did not order these concessions into effect. He simply recommended to the board that it adopt them.

4. The decision whether to adopt them, Labor sources explain, is up to the board. The board has been disrupted because when the agency approved the 10 percent ceiling on Feb. 15, the three Labor members walked out and subsequently resigned.

Informed sources said Labor leaders were not pleased with Johnston's approach to the problem, since they wanted him to order modifications in the wage formula and not merely to make recommendations to the disrupted board.

These sources added, however, that if Johnston took this action the three public members of the board might resign, thus completing the wreckage of the tripartite wage stabilization machinery.

Johnston did not change the board's decision that wage increases since Jan. 15, 1950, should be limited to 10 percent. But he recommended that cost-of-living escalator clauses and productivity improvement contracts should remain free of control until June 30, that the same should apply to pensions and welfare funds, and that provision should be made for "hardship" cases and other "inequities."

Other developments on the controls front:

Price Controller Michael DiSalle is expected to extend the freeze and rollback order on new automobile prices which is due to expire March 1.

About 250,000 retailers handling clothing and home furnishings will participate in the price markup freeze order not later than March 29.

DiSalle said the new order will result in some price increases, but more price rollbacks.

Democrats Retain Chicago Control

CHICAGO, Feb. 28—Democratic control of Chicago's city council remained unchallenged today on final returns from aldermanic balloting in one of the lightest election turnouts in years.

Thirty-nine Democrats—all but three of them incumbents—were elected yesterday. Fourteen Republicans won their races and five other places will be determined by runoffs in wards where no candidate received a majority. Present council makeup is 33 Democrats and 17 Republicans.

Complete but unofficial returns indicated that only one-third of the city's 2,087,000 voters bothered to go to the polls.

the Mafia. It said that witnesses suspected of membership in this "shadowy organization" denied knowledge of its existence—but "their denials had a hollow ring."

Advice Of Local Coaches Sought In Building Of Athletic Plant

Circleville high school coaches are to be given a chance to make recommendations for the proposed new $475,000 physical education plant here.

F. F. Glass of Columbus, architect hired by the Circleville board of education for the project, is expected to confer with the local coaches here later.

Glass told board members Tuesday night that the proposed building, as planned at present, will be capable of seating 2,360 fans in balcony and floor level seats.

In addition, four entranceways are planned for the building, along with a covered passageway connecting the building with the proposed new industrial arts building.

Glass told the board that the building under present plans will measure about 156'x126' and will contain two basketball courts for physical education purposes.

ACCORDING TO the preliminary plans, the two practice courts will lie east and west, while a "game" court will be made up of the pair to lie north and south.

In conjunction with the report of Glass concerning the proposed new structure, the board also learned that a state aide had inspected the present high school for recommendations of a cafeteria program.

Virgil M. Cress, clerk to the board, told the panel that the cafeteria expert had said the local situation is not ideal "but it is better than many have."

Meanwhile, Mrs. Gloria Gabriel, home economics teacher, is planning a detailed survey of the local facilities for the creation of a cafeteria system.

The board agreed to ask Wade Bash, head of the Ohio school lunch program, to look over the situation and make recommendations in the future. In addition, the panel also was concerned with making the local school system eligible again under the school lunch program.

Circleville's schools were given the nod last year to begin a lunchroom program, but failed to get the plan into operation.

AS A PART OF Tuesday's meeting, Attorney Ray Davis of the education panel introduced a letter written in 1919 by Caleb Atwater, for whom the new north elementary school building is being named.

Davis said he found the letter while searching for Abraham Lincoln documents in an Indianapolis bookstore. The letter was written by Atwater while he was postmaster of Circleville.

The board plans to frame the letter, along with its translation from its old script, and to hang them in the new elementary building.

HADACOL Helps Folks Suffering Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron

Registered nurses, in increasing numbers, are showing a keen interest in HADACOL and in the results that are being secured with this great modern formula. Requests have been received from many of these nurses for professional samples of HADACOL.

"Your HADACOL has already improved my appetite, and I am sure I'll regain my fifteen pounds soon. Those patients to whom I passed on your professional samples are all continuing to take HADACOL and most of them are now trying it in the family size bottle. All have been helped. Some are much, much better from an emotional standpoint. I saw one yesterday sitting on the porch of the next-door neighbor, chatting and smiling. She had only been able to walk around in the house. Just imagine that—after only three bottles of HADACOL!"

The announcement also said the force destroyed 20 enemy encampments on the raid. The Ongjin peninsula is on the west coast of Korea just south of the 38th Parallel.

The Rok also announced a raid on Kanghwado island off Kimpo peninsula on the west coast Saturday by a Rok marine task force. Twenty Reds were killed and one Communist vessel destroyed.

Elsewhere along the front, on the extreme east and extreme west of the line, Allied units reported no significant contact. All units maintained or slightly adjusted their frontline positions.

Total casualties to the Communists from ground action Tuesday were reported as 2,290 killed or wounded and 125 captured.

Commie Probers Turn Eye Toward Farmer Groups

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—House spy hunters are expected today to turn soon to investigation of reported Communist infiltration of American farm organizations.

Chairman Wood, (D) Ga., of the House Un-American Activities Committee disclosed this as Lem C. Harris, a member of the Communist Party's National Farm Commission, was called for questioning.

Harris has been characterized by Sen. Bridges, (R) N. H., as "one of Stalin's key agents" and as "one of those rich boys from Harvard who decided to spend Papa's money toying with the unwitting proletariat."

A committee spokesman said Harris is the son of a wealthy Wall Street broker.

Bridges claims that leaders of the Farmers Union "have attempted to turn that organization into a Communist front."

Sen. Langer, (R) N. D., in a response to Bridges, termed his charges "absolutely untrue" insofar as they concerned the Farmers Union in North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota.

Bridges said he has found no evidence of Communist attempts to infiltrate two other farm organizations — the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange.

Cost Of War: 50,675 Casualties

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—The Defense Department's official list of American casualties in Korea today rose to 50,675, an increase of 1,543 over last week.

The new list includes 7,639 killed in action; 33,401 wounded, of whom 888 have died; and 9,635 missing.

The Army has suffered 41,951 casualties, the Marine Corps 7,728, the Navy 590 and the Air force 406.

Veteran Barber Flops In Taking State's Exam

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28 — A member of the Ohio Barber Board missed five straight questions taken from the barbers' examination by a member of the Bellis house investigating committee yesterday.

The witness was Jesse D. Sellers, non-union barber of Plain City, a barber since 1902 and a board member since Jan. 8.

The questions were taken from the examination by Rep. Robert Johnson (R-Medina) who then asked "what such questions have to do with qualifying a barber."

A second board member, however, Secretary Carl A. Moyer, explained that the answers were to be found in the four recognized text books used in the state's eight barber colleges.

Johnson's questions ranged from "when barbering became an art in Greece?" to "what is alopecia?" Sellers said he couldn't answer the questions because he himself had never attended barbers' college. He testified also that current requirements for a barber include 1,500 hours in a barber college and then 18 months services as an apprentice.

Sellers insisted that the training was necessary "for a man to go out and work on the public." He added that "any reduction in training would be harmful."

MICHIGAN PENINSULAS MAY UNITE VIA BRIDGE, TUNNEL

Engineers' drawing of proposed Straits of Mackinac bridge.

By BIRT DARLING
Central Press Correspondent

LANSING, Mich. — Michigan is going to link up its Great Lakes-separated peninsulas, even if it has to throw a five-mile span over a sunken gorge and bore a tunnel through it!

Engineers of the Mackinac Bridge Authority — and they're some of the nation's best — say they can perform both these miracles. However, they will settle for a five-mile-long bridge, for the time being.

Such a span, second only to the Golden Gate bridge in length, would cost $87 million, after financing, and would hook up the two peninsulas economically as well as physically.

There is another reason for such a project, and one which has not been missed by the planners in the Pentagon: The "Soo" Locks, a few miles north of the proposed bridge site, are the great link between the iron ore of Duluth, and the smelters of Pittsburgh. Destroy them and you have largely destroyed America's defense effort.

WITH SUCH a bridge as is now planned, you could have anti-aircraft and other defense weapons flowing across to "Ault Ste. Marie in a few hours' time. Today, they would either go all the way around, via Chicago and Milwaukee, or else wait for the ferry at Mackinac City.

The great Ice Age of 20,000 years ago played tricks which may give the engineers some trouble. Glaciers came down from the Polar regions, then retreated. Small streams drained away from the glacial front and formed a roaring river.

All this, of course, was long before the formation of either Lake Michigan or Huron, but the wild torrent cut a deep gorge. Today this twisting gorge is far beneath the lakes, posing a neat problem for the engineers. For one thing, they don't know exactly where the tributary streams and gorges are that flowed into the main river. They are going to have to make quite a few soundings to locate them.

AS IF THAT were not enough, there is the problem of the "breccia" or limestone, around the hidden gorge. This limestone can be very treacherous stuff, and even the geologists confess they do not know what will happen when vast pressures are placed on it. However, they plan to run some tests, and they are optimistic.

If worst comes to worst, the proposed sub-aqueous tunnel may be the final answer. The blueprints show 56 "pre-cast" tunnel sections, each 300 feet long. The plan would be to hook them at the unheard-of depth of 300 feet. I would be slightly over three miles in length.

One of nature's greatest menaces, that of towering lake ice, would have to be conquered, and ice pressures of more than 200,000 pounds per lineal foot could be expected.

The idea of spanning the historic Straits of Mackinac is not new. Some of the proposals have verged on the fantastic, starting with a suggested "floating tunnel," back in 1920.

"However, even some of the early dreamers could scarcely have envisioned a five-mile bridge or a three-mile tunnel. Michigan may one day have both!

raced into a blazing building as firemen were pouring water on the flames.

Adler said Tebeau insisted on going to his apartment — and refused to leave the building when firemen ordered him out. Police were called and a scuffle followed.

Tebeau left — without the bottle of gin he had hidden in his room.

Sharp Increase In Tobacco Crop Due This Year

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 — Mobilizing Americans are expected to puff themselves to a new cigarette consumption record as they busy themselves with the nation's war preparations.

Back in the early Fall, the Agriculture Department predicted that the nation would smoke a new record amount of cigarettes this year. But more up-to-date information shows that smokers will burn away even more tobacco than was earlier thought.

Agriculture Secretary Brannan has asked farmers to plant from 12 to 14 percent more acres to burley and flue-cured tobacco — major cigarette types — this year to meet the great demand.

Brannan upped his request for flue-cured tobacco from one billion, 235 million pounds this year to one billion, 297 million pounds. He asked for an increase of almost 40 million pounds of burley from a previously announced goal of 542 million pounds.

This will mean, he says, that each farm will increase flue-cured tobacco acreages by about 14 percent and burley by about 12 percent.

Cigarette consumption in 1950 smashed all previous records. Smokers pulled through about 363 billion butts last year. That was three percent more than in 1949.

Alimony Set By Judge Here

Harold Cook has been ordered to pay $15 a week temporary alimony to Cecil Cook by Judge William D. Radcliff in Pickaway County common pleas court.

Motion for allowance of the temporary alimony was filed by Cecil Cook, plaintiff in a divorce suit.

Also in common pleas court Esther McClarren, defendant, has filed a motion seeking a court order to modify a divorce decree. Plaintiff is Lewis McClarren. Hearing has been set for 11 a. m. Saturday.

SOLENNY warning that ten years or more of unsettled international conditions may be expected, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, testified in Washington before the House Armed Services Committee hearings on universal military training and the draft. He reported that about 250,000 U. S. troops are now fighting in Korea. (International)

Ex-Educator Asks For New Trial

LANCASTER, Feb. 28 — George M. (Mel) Thompson, 34-year-old former school principal facing a prison term for intimacies with a 14-year-old school girl, has asked for a new trial.

Thompson, former principal of Pickerington school, was convicted Saturday on one of four charges made by Bonnie Atwood.

The request for the new trial was made by Thompson's attorney in Lancaster. Thompson faces a prison term of from one to ten years or a fine of from $100 to $1,000 or both.

Lack Of Posts Slows Erection Of City Signs

Lack of steel posts is delaying the erection of no parking signs in front of Circleville school buildings.

Safety Director C. O. Leist said that 36 no parking signs have arrived, but the posts on which to erect them "are still on the way."

The erection of the signs in front of school buildings was ordered by city council several weeks ago. They prohibit parking from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. on school days.

Leist said that parking meters throughout the downtown area of Circleville soon are to be given a coat of paint.

"Meter posts that have been bent by cars backing into the will be straightened," he added.

The safety director also said that erection of street name signs throughout the city is proceeding slowly, but will pick up with the improvement in weather conditions.

BRITISH PACIFISM

CERTAIN developments in Britain these days are reminiscent of the pacifist movement in the 30s when aversion to war swept the United Kingdom as the axis powers prepared for conquest. The people didn't want to fight again.

Popular sentiment was so strongly against war that the government let its rearmaments slip. There were rumors that when Mussolini invaded Ethiopia and there was talk of stopping him in the Mediterranean, the British fleet lacked ammunition for its naval guns.

When Hitler could have been stopped in the Rhineland, the British backed away from helping the French. They had earlier turned down Washington on a proposal to warn the Japs out of Manchuria.

Aversion to war has reached the point in Britain that the Labor Party is split on foreign policy. The party, committed to a policy of token rearmament, saw one of its candidates elected to Parliament the other day who is an out-and-out pacifist.

The Labor Party, of course, has a heritage of pacifism. Socialists in the past have maintained they were opposed to war. But some of the Laborites in Britain today are spouting the Russian line. A union leader says: "This rearmament of Europe is for the purpose of waging aggressive war by American imperialism against the forces of peace and human welfare." It isn't difficult to guess the identity of the forces he alludes to.

The United States should determine the size of the segment of the English population that is attracted by such sentiments. If these are the sentiments of a majority of the British people, then this country has no dependable ally in Britain.

FEWER ROAD PROJECTS

GOVERNMENT spending, and taxing, for defense will have the effect of drastically curtailing new road projects this year. High cost of labor and materials—if not actual shortages—will be insurmountable obstacles that will cause cancellation of many plans for new roads and rebuilding jobs.

Many states had made plans for grandiose highways copied after the Pennsylvania Turnpike, a toll road which bisects the Keystone state, and similar modern highways. Few of these will be undertaken this year. More noticeable will be the average motorist, however, will be a slackening in repair work on present roads. Some are not in condition and will get worse.

It is a tenebrous observation that more people can stand adversity than prosperity. But politicians don't appeal to voters in that light.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The problem of the former Communist intrigues all sorts of people. Some, like Bernard Devoto, wonder why we should believe them. They were wrong once, may they not be wrong again? They changed once, might they not change again?

My own experience since 1917 shows that it is next to impossible to get at the heart of Communist organization and activities without the assistance of renegade Communists. Even students who have devoted themselves to the problem, no matter how assiduously, for decades, find that there are missing links, unexplained details, curious personal relationships, without which even academic analysis becomes hopeless.

So we come to the question of Hede Massing's forthcoming book, entitled "This Deception." Hede Massing is the former wife of Gerhart Eisler, who represented the Third International in the United States and was the most powerful Communist in this country for a period. Eisler escaped from the United States on the Polish ship Batory under scandalous circumstances.

Mrs. Massing wrote a book on her experiences, which Farrar, Straus and Young accepted. The type was set. The book was ready for publication. Then Mrs. Massing was told that this firm desired that a chapter relating to Laurence Duggan be omitted. Otherwise, the book would not be published.

It would seem that Roger W. Straus Jr. of the publishing firm became "morally" concerned with the elimination of the Duggan chapter out of regard for Duggan's widow and children. It is a point of fine sentimentality.

Duggan was a member of the State Department group that came out of Harvard and the Institute of Pacific Relations which some have held responsible for our errors in Asia. He was also a very close friend and protégé of Sumner Welles. And he either committed suicide or was pushed out of a window.

According to Mrs. Massing, Duggan offered his services to her and she handed him over to another group. This is either an important historic fact or a libel. In fact, Farrar, Straus and Young have not contended that they want the chapter suppressed because of libel but rather because of the moral issue of protecting Duggan's widow and orphans.

Morris Ernst has written a foreword to this book in which he said.

"It explicitly touches on a very sensitive spot in the culture of our nation. Why do people join the Communist Party? I know of no one who has told before so clearly the reasons why people do things like this, how they fool people, use them innocently. I wish that all our legislators, officials and public leaders would read this volume."

So Mrs. Massing refused to suppress the chapter and the book will be published on March 14 by Duell, Sloan and Pearce, to whom the rights and plates were transferred.

Never pay attention to those who say mean things about you; the probability is that the speakers reflect themselves.

Not many Americans read books . . . there are people who go to sleep when they try to think.

Food costs now are expected to stop after increasing another five percent, unless there is another "freeze."

Diagnosing Abdominal Epilepsy

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IN the usual epileptic attack there is loss of consciousness, together with convulsions in severe cases. There is, however, another form of this disease which is less easily recognized. Here the attack seems to confine itself to the intestinal tract alone, and the condition is therefore known as abdominal epilepsy. Pain may occur alone or may be accompanied by vomiting, sickness at the stomach, diarrhea, pallor, sweating, and nightmares.

In order to make a definite diagnosis of this condition, it is important that a tracing of the brain waves, known as an electroencephalogram be made, since abnormal brain waves of the type seen in the usual forms of epilepsy would indicate that the intestinal symptoms are due to a form of epileptic disturbance. In addition, nervous system or neurologic tests and X-ray examinations are important. Since, in many of these cases, there may be actual brain injury from tumors and inflammation, studies of the brain by specialized X-ray examinations are also important.

First Dose

In treating the disorder, such drugs as "Dilantin Sodium" and "Mesantoin," as well as the quieting drugs, such as the barbiturates and bromides, are all helpful. If the administration of the first dose of these drugs relieves the symptoms, it aids in confirming the diagnosis.

As a part of the treatment, it is also important that other related disorders, such as bowel disturbances and infections, receive the proper care. The patient's diet should be carefully regulated, kept well balanced, and free from highly-seasoned or other irritating foods. Any emotional disturbances should be corrected when possible.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

N. A.: What can be done for dry skin, and what causes superfluous hair on the face?

Answer: The character of the skin varies in different individuals. In some persons, the skin is dry, while in others it is moist, which seems to depend somewhat on the amount of secretion from the fat glands in the skin. Disturbances in the glands of internal secretion, such as lack of thyroid secretion, may be contributing causes. However, in these instances, symptoms, such as dryness and thickness of the hair, lack of energy, and excessive gain in weight will be noted.

In cases where the skin is naturally dry, there does not seem to be much that can be done outside of applying a bland ointment, such as cold cream, to the skin once a day.

The cause of superfluous hair is not known. It might be due to a glandular disturbance.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Approximately 700 applications for jobs are on file in the United States Employment Service Office in Circleville with virtually no jobs available.

Miss Eleanor Snyder of Pinckney street underwent an emergency appendicitis operation in White Cross hospital.

Elliot White accepted chairmanship of the retail merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce, succeeding I. W. Kinsey.

TEN YEARS AGO

With Richard Plum as their leader, Pickaway County's fourth contingent left for Fort Hayes for physical examinations.

J. Wray Henry, Circleville high school principal, returned from a National Education Association convention in Atlantic City.

Carriers of The Daily Herald were invited to attend the film "Western Union" at the Grand Theatre by Manager Harry Brown Jr.

President Coolidge signed a bill reducing income taxes $387,000,000.

The House Appropriations Committee authorized an appropriation of $350,000 to improve and modernize the site of the new federal industrial reformatory at Chillicothe.

Try, Stop Me

Humorist Stephen Leacock had a long string of college degrees, and Canadian associates usually addressed him as "Doctor." The purser of an Atlantic liner, who had heard him thus referred to for three days, stepped up to him one evening and said, "Doctor, could I prevail upon you to examine the star of last year's Ziegfeld Follies? She slipped on the promenade deck and I'm afraid she has sprained her hip."

Leacock reported ruefully later, "I rushed there like a startled gazelle, but alas! two doctors of divinity had arrived ahead of me."

The most believable golf story of the year appeared on the sports page of a Daytona Beach newspaper recently. It read, "At this point the gallery deserted the defending champion to watch Miss Blank, whose shorts were dropping on the green with astonishing regularity."

Just prior to the War of 1812, pioneer Quint Darby and his wife, Rhoda, settle on the Niagara river across from Canada. Here they prosper and make friends, but socially ambitious Rhoda is unhappy. Her nagging tyranny kills what love there was between them and Quint turns to the hope of building merchant ships.

CHAPTER TWO

QUINT opened the kitchen door and there found Rhoda. "Your food's ready," she said, and put a plate heaped with fried potatoes and pork slices on the scrubbed pine table.

She wasn't a pretty young woman but she had a cleanness of appearance that brought many a second glance to her.

"Ice is out," said Quint as he sat down.

She walked over to the fireplace. "Becky's stomach sick," she said contemptuously.

Quint looked up from his plate, surprised. Becky was healthy as their cow. "What sickened her?"

"Go to the Moseley boys. May-be they'd know."

Quint felt sickened himself. Becky was little more than a child. The three Moseley youths were a bad lot. If Rhoda knew Becky had been seeing them, why hadn't she stopped it?

"I've told her to go," Rhoda said. "In God's name—where?"

Becky had lived with her grandmother, but the grandmother had died just before Rhoda had taken her. She had no other kin hereabouts.

To his urgent question Rhoda only shrugged her shoulders.

"I'll speak to Mistress Sabrina about her . . ." Quint said.

Now the curl of Rhoda's lips was scorn for his acquaintance with what she called the "rag and bob-tail," in which group she put Mistress Sabrina Meacham, a woman who travelled miles over the front.

ter on a bony nag, doctoring with her herbs. Even in the Seneca settlement, sometimes. Lived alone in a one-room house on the Guidepost road. "Touched," was Rhoda's opinion of her. For who but one touched would set foot in an Indian village?

"Likely she'll take her in," Rhoda retorted scornfully.

Quint pushed his breakfast aside, scarcely eaten.

"Where's the girl now?"

"In one of the sheds. Leastwise that's where she headed."

Quint found the girl in the shed farthest from the house, huddled in a corner on some old pieces of timber, her hands limp in her lap, her eyes burning dry. At sight of Quint she shrank back.

"Don't be afraid of me, Becky."

He spoke as he would to a child. Becky sobbed. "She said—she said I had to go!"

He had had in mind demanding, in stern manner, the whole truth from her, so that he could act on it, but now he hesitated to press her for it. It was possible she did not comprehend herself the full measure of her trouble.

He asked, "How old are you, Becky?"

"Sixteen."

He said, very gently, "You are not going to be sent away, my child. Not until I have found the place best for you to go."

Becky sprang to her feet. "Oh, Mr. Darby! I'll do anything! I'll mind all my ways, truly!"

She looked as simple of mind as her words sounded and Quint suppressed a groan.

"Go back to your work, now, Becky. I'll speak to Mrs. Darby. Come!"

He held out a hand and Becky put hers into it and started with him toward the house.

But he felt her shrinking. At

YOUR FUTURE

In this next year of your life you would be wise to stop worrying, for most likely the time will be propitious for you. Making a new start should help. A studious, ambitious character probably will develop as today's child grows toward adulthood.

Inside WASHINGTON

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Republican leaders from strongly pro-Eisenhower areas in the west and northwest report that the only question now in their minds is whether "Ike" will be free of his European defense job in time to accept a GOP presidential nomination in 1952. However, there is little concern about this question in top Republican circles in Washington.

Those close to both the military and political situation say that there is "no reason"—barring an outbreak of war in Europe—why Eisenhower at the end of this year cannot turn his command over to someone else and report to all nations concerned that the defense organization is set up and a "going concern."

Then he could return to civilian life in early 1952 and be an "available" candidate for the presidential race.

TAXES—Tax experts on Capitol Hill say it is doubtful if Congress will approve the entire $16.5 billion tax increase to be requested by President Truman although taxes will be raised sharply. Mr. Truman already has asked for $10 billion and will seek the balance later. Most observers believe Congress will vote about two-thirds of the total amount sought.

One factor working against approval of the entire request is testimony by John Clark of the Council of Economic Advisers that such a boost would leave a two or three billion dollar surplus. Tax legislators say this is no time to talk about a surplus and they suggest cutting the proposed increase by that amount so too heavy a burden won't be placed on the taxpayer.

OFFICER SURPLUS—Rep. Charles B. Brownson (R), Indiana, thinks there are too many officers at the Pentagon.

"I cannot understand why, with our armed forces only about a quarter as big as they were during the war, the Pentagon should be crowded with so many officers," Brownson told his constituents. The Hoosier also thought the floral decorations in many offices un-military. He complained: "I've never seen so many African violets as I did in one general's office. That is the sort of thing I believe we can economize on without hurting the boys in Korea or Europe."

ARMING OUR NEIGHBORS—Latest reports on United States efforts to arm the Latin American republics are that we will sell destroyer escorts to Colombia, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela. A formal announcement of the offer of sale is expected any day.

This move follows closely the transfer of two light cruisers each to Argentina, Brazil and Chile at bargain rates. Plans also are in the works to station United States military missions in all 20 Latin American countries.

The United States regards Latin America as a vital source of strategic materials and as a possible next-to-last line of defense. Foreign ministers of the Latin American nations will meet in Washington in March and the United States will request its neighbor republics to participate in inter-American defense on an unprecedented scale.

NEUTRON FLASH—Atomic energy reporters have had it dinned into their ears that there is no such thing as a small atomic explosion—of the chain reaction variety, that is—but there is something relatively small resembling an explosion.

If two near-critical pieces of atomic explosive are forced together very rapidly, with a powerful "gun" such as is used in the A-bomb, there is a big blast of the kind that has become familiar.

However, if the two pieces are brought together slowly, there occurs a phenomenon known as a "neutron flash"—a blinding burst of light—after which the two pieces repel each other with great force.

The neutron flash is deadly. It won't collapse any walls, but it releases enough radiation to kill anyone within 100 or 200 feet. There is reason to believe the AEC is experimenting with a weapon which, by producing repeated neutron flashes, might give an enemy a lot of trouble.

All-Female Cast Puts On Minstrel Show As Part Of Local 'Mason's Night'

Eastern Star Gives Program

The old time minstrel show was revived Tuesday evening.

Complete with chorus, end men, jokes, snappy songs and a tap dancer, the production highlighted the annual Circleville Mason's Night program presented each year by Order of Eastern Star.

Following a covered dish dinner in the dining rooms more than 80 members and guests assembled in the lodge room to hear an address of welcome by Worthy Patron Homer Reber, while members of the all-female cast were backstage donning their costumes.

The curtain opened to reveal the chorus dressed in a variety of unusual shoes, dark skirts, white blouses and red bandanas atop the grease paint blacking their faces.

The opening song, "Come On Down South" was followed by the chorus singing, "Enjoy Yourself."

Mrs. Donald Collins, worthy matron, wearing a tuxedo and derby acted as "Mr. Interlocutor" and straight man to the jokes of the "end men"—Mrs. Richard Plum, Mrs. Roy Marshall, Mrs. Richard Robinson and Mrs. William Cook, all cleverly garbed in an odd assortment of men's clothing.

Mrs. Eric Pete sang the first solo, "Tucky Home" with the vocal group joining in on the second chorus.

End Man Cook was also accompanied by the chorus when she sang, "The Thing."

Mrs. Ralph Dunkle sang, "Swanee" with Miss Reba Lee at the piano, who played the entire show.

A song and dance, "Ida" by Jane Plum brought down the house—and also her trousers when her suspenders broke.

But true to the tradition that the show must go on Jane finished the show holding a tambourine in one hand and the trousers (much too large) in the other.

A solo, "Tennessee Waltz" was sung by Miss Anne Moeller who with her sister, Mrs. John Woods, also sang a duet, "Bushel and a Peck."

Miss Jo Ann Brink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brink, sang "Stormy Weather."

A clever dialogue between Mrs. Highball (Mrs. Walden Reichelderfer) and Mandy Suds from Codfish Row (Mrs. Brink) was next on the program.

Mrs. Homer Reber accompanied by the chorus sang, "Rufus Rastus Johnson Brown."

A final solo, "Chloe" was sung by one of the end men, Gladys Robinson.

Mrs. George M. Adkins was one of the chorus members that helped Mrs. John Evans sing a farewell to the audience with, "So Long, It's Been Nice to Know You."

The show was produced and directed by Mrs. Dunkle who was assisted by the entire cast. During the business session of OES which preceded the entertainment, several guests from neighboring chapters were introduced including Mrs. Charles Hurt, worthy matron of Washington C. H. and grand representative to the state of Idaho,

COOKBOOK of the WEEK

From the Collection of 24 of THE WORLD'S GREATEST COOKBOOKS

Sponsored by this Newspaper

It is easy to serve sandwiches for a party but to make them attractive is another story. For any number of wonderful fillings and countless striking and unusual ways of serving sandwiches, you must see "500 Tasty Sandwich Recipes," the fourteenth cookbook in the series of twenty-four Culinary Arts Institute Cookbooks available to readers of The Circleville Herald.

Like the other books in the series, the Sandwich Book covers the field completely with step-by-step instructions, delicious, concise recipes, and photographic illustrations that suggest any number of unusual ways of serving or trimming sandwiches.

Most of the recipes are accompanied by many variations and alternate suggestions so that every taste and pocketbook can be satisfied. A whole column of other fillings for the recipe below appears in the Sandwich Book but for lack of space only the basic recipe is given:

FROSTED SANDWICH LOAF

1 unsliced loaf sandwich bread
Butter
Mayonnaise
Sliced tomatoes
Minced Ham Filling
Lettuce
9 ounces cream cheese
Milk
Parsley

Remove all crust from a loaf of day-old bread. Cut 4 lengthwise slices about 1/2 inch thick and spread with butter. Place a slice on a platter, spread with mayonnaise, then cover with sliced peeled tomatoes. Spread another slice with mayonnaise and place it mayonnaise side down on tomatoes. Spread top of this slice with minced ham, cover with third slice of bread. Spread it with mayonnaise and cover with lettuce. Spread fourth slice of bread with mayonnaise and place it mayonnaise side down on lettuce. Press firmly together. Soften cream cheese with milk, beat until fluffy and frost the outside of the loaf. Garnish with parsley. Chill at least 1 hour. Slice crosswise to serve. Serves 8.

You will certainly want to get your Sandwich book immediately. Just present 15 cents to your independent grocery in Circleville.

Election Law Change Hits Snag In Panel

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28 — The house elections committee struck a snag today in its efforts to make it tougher for independent candidates to win a place on the ballot in Ohio.

One of the two bills, by Rep. Lowell Fess (R-Greene) would increase the number of signatures required to place an independent's name on the ballot from one to ten percent of the number of votes cast for governor in the last election.

The other, by Rep. Bishop Kilpatrick (D-Trumbull) would amend the same section of the law but would require independent candidates to file at the same time regular party candidates file for the primary.

There was the snag. Leland S. Dougan, elections expert with the secretary of state, pointed out that, to accomplish Kilpatrick's purpose, other sections of the law also would be amended.

Dougan also pointed out that the Ohio Association of Elections Officials recommended that the percentage increase be not from one to ten, but from one to seven. He also said that the association's omnibus bill, revamping the election laws generally to cure inequities discovered since the last session, would be presented in the senate early next week.

The committee, however, decided to ignore the forthcoming senate bill and continue with its own measure. So the subcommittee was named to consolidate the two bills into one which would be correct in form.

Teen Tips

So may letters from high school girls tell a sad and sorry story about not being allowed to invite their friends—girls and boys—to their homes as they should. Their parents don't allow it.

Now comes a letter from a mother who tells another side of the story. Her daughter's friends and what happened? Instead of you like to have people mar or appreciating the hospitality and fun with good manners, they nearly wrecked the place. Here's the letter:

"I am not a 'teen-ager,' but I am the mother of one and have a problem you might be able to help with. We want our daughter to bring her friends to her home (she is 15) and enjoy themselves, but don't you think at this age they should learn to respect and take care of our possessions?"

"They break our dishes, mark the furniture (in one case rather badly), ruin the hardwood floors, etc. Now I expect things to be spilled, etc., but when it comes to these other mishaps, I think they should see our viewpoint just as much as we need to see theirs.

"I can't think of a better way to put my point across than through your column. I know my daughter reads it and I hope her friends will, too. Why last night they even broke my husband's favorite pipe; you can imagine how he feels."

How come, girls and guys? Do you liketo have people mar or destroy your things? Then why not show consideration for the belongings and feelings of others? Perhaps nobody ever explained to you that this is one of the first rules of good manners—and you'll never be popular or successful without manners. Besides, you'll be more grown-up if you're smooth instead of crude.

Vets With NSLI Policies To Get Dividend

Pickaway County World War II veterans who have continued their National Service Life Insurance since 1948 are due for another dividend return this year.

Service Officer James P. Shea said the first dividend checks are expected to be sent in April and the distribution will continue for a year.

Any veteran who has kept his service insurance in force for three months or longer between 1948 and this April will be eligible for the dividend, Shea said. Dividends will average about $85.

Dividends will be paid in the order of policy dates. That is, the policy with an anniversary date will be paid first, while a later month date will not be paid until that date arrives.

A total of some $685 million is reportedly involved in the dividend return, to be divided among about eight million policy holders.

"It is not necessary to apply for this second GI insurance dividend," Shea said.

TAXPAYER IS IN MIDDLE

Second Class Mail Rate Hike Asked By Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—President Truman asked congress yesterday to increase postal rates other than first class mail to a point sufficient to wipe out part of the present postal department deficit of $521 million annually.

The President asked that second class mail rates on the carrying of newspapers and magazines be increased to at least double the present charges.

Mr. Truman told Congress that it now costs the government $242 million annually to carry newspapers and magazines in the mails for postage revenue of "only about $42 million."

He said that doubling the present rates would bring in only about an additional $40 million, but that "the taxpayer should not be expected to bear the cost of carrying newspapers and magazines through the mails."

OBSERVERS POINTED out, however, that the "taxpayer"

Columbus Man Dies In Crash

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—A 43-year-old Columbus man identified as Eugene E. Reed was killed instantly yesterday when his rented car was struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train at a Columbus crossing.

Deputies quoted the train's engineer as saying Reed's car stopped when it reached the crossing but lurched to the center of the tracks as the freight approached.

The car was carried nearly 1,000 feet and Reed's body was recovered 150 feet from the crossing.

Prince Edward Island Shrinks

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Feb. 28—Walter Jones, premier of Prince Edward Island, expressed concern today because the Canadian province is shrinking two ways.

The Atlantic Ocean is chewing away at the island's coastline at a rapid rate and the population is migrating to the United States and the Canadian mainland.

The island's present population is 80,000, but more than four times that number have moved to New England.

Metal Users Face Big Test

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—Iron Age magazine said today that the full impact of the defense program will be felt in the third quarter of 1951 and metal users will face their most critical test in that period.

The metalworking weekly said that although some of them already have been "curtailed by restrictions and frustrated by uncertainty, the worst has yet to come." It added that at the same time the newly-launched controlled materials program will be "on its shakedown cruise."

TEXTILE MAN TURNS HIS JOB KNOW-HOW INTO HAPPY HOBBY

Mrs. Cletus Ketner operates loom in garage textile "mill."

By HENRY LESSENE
Central Press Correspondent

BURLINGTON, N. C.—Of all the people in the world who are inclined to take a busman's holiday, Cletus Ketner here probably takes the cake. He doesn't take the busman's holiday by himself, either; Mrs. Ketner now finds it quite as thrilling as he does.

The Ketners themselves weave in their backyard, just about every fabric used in their home—the upholstery on the furniture, the draperies, the tablecloths, the bedspreads.

The Ketners do their weaving on regular power looms, the lightning-fast, complicated machines one finds in cotton or rayon mills. For you see, Ketner is a textile mill man, earning his livelihood as the weave room supervisor in a Piedmont Heights plant here.

He became interested in weaving as a hobby and a creative art only a few years ago, though he has worked in textile mills for many years.

To begin, he made a hand loom, operated by hand-and-foot power, a rather simple machine. He began, in his spare time, weaving very simple cloth types on it. Mrs.

Ketner had never before worked with a loom but watching her husband, she became interested, too.

One of the things that seemed to bother her was the slowness of the crude hand loom. So Ketner acquired, fairly cheap, two second-hand looms from a company in South Carolina—a power loom, you see, is a rather expensive piece of machinery.

Ketner equipped one of the looms with a dobby head and the other with cams. These two types enabled him to branch out from simple cloth styles into many kinds of drapery, upholstery and bedspreads.

This was done, however, not without difficulty. It took him about six months to convince city authorities he was not really going into the manufacturing business and was merely pursuing a hobby. He lives in a zone set up for residences, not manufacturing enterprises.

However, he persuaded the city council, and was permitted to hook up the machines in his garage. The backyard venture now supplies the Ketners with all the fabric they can utilize, and at Christmas Mrs. Ketner usually weaves some extra bedspreads to use as gifts.

King George Tells Princess To Slow Down

LONDON, Feb. 28—Court sources said today that King George VI has quieted the night life of Princess Margaret by requesting that she not make too much of a "public display."

These sources say that the boycott of swank restaurants and night clubs in the last few months by the gay princess is a direct result of the "advice" of Papa.

It was said that the king wants to halt any recurrence of gossip which has labeled his youngest daughter a "play girl." His solution reportedly was in suggesting that she "have her fun" at private parties, dinners and dances.

In support of his intention not to be a spoil-sport, it has been noted that Margaret danced until nearly 4 a. m. at the recent gala Pythley Hunt Ball.

But testifying also to the effectiveness of the monarch's plan, it has been noted that Margaret has not been seen in a restaurant or night club since last Christmas.

Grown in southern waters, oysters reach market size at about 18 months to two years.

Jury Clears Police Chief

PORTSMOUTH, Feb. 28—A Scioto County common pleas court jury in Portsmouth has cleared New Boston Police Chief Fred Brown of responsibility for any injuries suffered by Mrs. Ethel Zirkes when she was arrested for disorderly conduct.

The jury of five women and seven men refused yesterday to allow the $5,500 damages Mrs. Zirkes claimed was owed her because Chief Brown twisted her arm and pushed her into a cell.

Expert Rips Transit Report

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—An Ohio State university accounting professor will continue to attack operating statements of the Columbus Transit Co. today in federal court.

Prof. George W. Eckelberry told the court hearing the bus company's attack on a rate setting city ordinance yesterday that the firm earned net profits of more than $200,000 last year.

His testimony contrasted sharply with company exhibits which purported to show the concern lost $160,648 in 1950.

The professor said the bus company had over-calculated amounts set aside for depreciation and miscellaneous items.

U.S. Suspends Bolivian Pilot

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Eric Rios Bridoux, 30, the Bolivian pilot whose fighter plane collided with an airliner over National Airport 15 months ago, causing 55 deaths, today is without a license to fly in the United States.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, which previously ruled that Bridoux probably caused the accident, revoked his pilot's license on the grounds that he was careless and reckless, and "demonstrated a lack of judgment, caution, and disposition to submit to regulation." Bridoux reportedly left the United States last July.

Mustang Falls Near Hillsboro

Puerto Rican To Face Second Government Cop

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Puerto Rican Nationalist Oscar Collazo, on trial for his life, will be confronted today by a White House guard critically wounded in the attempted assassination of President Truman.

Pvt. Joseph Downs, still recovering from wounds suffered in the Blair House shooting, heads the list of government witnesses scheduled to testify today.

The poker-faced 37-year-old fanatic will go to the electric chair if convicted of first-degree murder in the slaying of another White House guard, Leslie Coffelt.

Collazo sat stiff and emotionless yesterday as another White

House policeman wounded in the blazing gun-battle stepped down from the witness stand to tap him on the shoulder so there could be no doubt about his identification.

The officer, Donald Birdzell, testified that Collazo opened fire on him in front of Blair House, shooting him in the right knee before he could draw his gun.

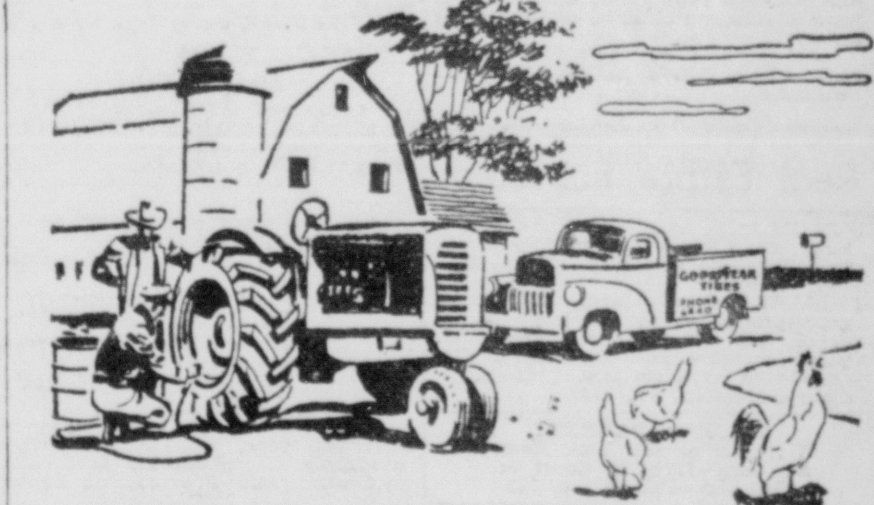

Prosecution attorneys disclosed that was the only one of nine shots fired by Collazo that found its mark.

Pickaway Wins First Tourney Tilt

Monroe's Test Due Wednesday

Pickaway Pirates basketball team spurted itself into the second round of the central district Class "B" tournament in Westerville Tuesday night with a comfortable 62-44 victory over Utica.

The Pirate aggregation was the first of four local teams to begin operations in district tournament play this season.

Other games on tap during the next two days for the other three local teams are: in the "B" tournament, Monroe vs. Bremen at 4 p. m. Wednesday and New Holland vs. Holy Family at 7:30 p. m. Thursday; in the "A" tournament in Columbus, Circleville vs. Columbus East at 9:45 p. m. Thursday.

Pickaway moved up the ladder toward fame in the 35-team "B" contest Tuesday with its initial win, slated to meet for a quarterfinal match in its bracket this Friday.

The Pirates will tangle with Newark St. Francis in its next contest, slated to begin in Otterbein gym in Westerville at about 8:45 p. m. Friday.

IN TUESDAY'S opening match, the Pirates opened slowly with a meagre 13-10 lead in the first period, although hitting their stride in the second stanza to post a wide 33-19 margin at the half.

Every player on the Pickaway bench was sent into the game during the final half of the tilt as the Pirates continued to lead by 44-30 at the end of the third period and finished strongly with the 62-44 finale.

The Pickaway - Utica contest was one of the most evenly-drawn contests of this year's tourney. Both teams boasted records of 10 wins in 19 starts going into the match.

Diminutive Dale McAfee was the scoring ace for Pickaway during the opening fracas, tallying a total of 18 points for his team. Bill Evans was second high scorer for the Pirates with 13, while Charlie Hardin and Vic Pontius were next with a dozen points each. L. Marston was high for the losers with 13.

In other games on Tuesday's "B" tournament menu, Mt. Sterling, one of the favorites to advance into the regionals, was dumped from the eliminations by Canal Winchester, which more than doubled the score over the previously undefeated Mt. Sterling team by a 43-21 margin.

Mt. Gilead bested Byhalia by 52-40 in another game. Brown Township scored a 75-61 win over Edison and Newark St. Francis posted a 77-53 margin over Broadway.

Pickaway and Newark will meet Friday for the boost into the semi's of one bracket of the tourney. Pickaway with the 10-9 season mark and Newark with a 9-12 record for the year.

Rotary, Kiwanis Cage Contest Due March 16

A benefit basketball game to top all local exhibitions this year will be staged March 16 in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum.

While most exhibition cage tests feature the ultimate in court antics, the coming test probably will be just the opposite.

And if either team is able to score it probably will be a mistake with a "fix" claimed.

Combatants in the match will be members of Circleville Kiwanis Club vs. members of Circleville Rotary Club, with proceeds from the contest to be used in the uniform fund for Circleville high school's marching band.

Commissioners from each of the clubs have met to arrange the contest, which will feature a short concert between halves by the CHS band. The game will begin at about 8 p. m., the commissioners agreed.

City Juniors Enter Tourney

Circleville's junior high school basketball team will begin play at 8 p. m. Friday in a 16-team invitational junior tournament in Chillicothe.

Coach John Chilcote of the CHS junior aggregation said his team will meet Jackson in its tournament opener in Chillicothe central gymnasium.

If successful, the junior Tigers will be pitted against Chillicothe West Fifth for its quarterfinal match. The tournament begins Wednesday with a series of games and will continue through March 9.

Now They Have Dozen Fixers Tied Up To Basketball Scandal

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 — New York's growing colony of accused basketball fixers stood at a dozen today and an added detail of detectives went on the prowl for additional suspects and a mysterious "Mr. X" who may have been the fixer supreme.

Every indication was that further arrests were in the making behind the newest catch in the expose. Twelfth man to become involved in the sickening fix plot was Floyd Layne of City College of New York.

He had been acting captain of the CCNY team since the arrest ten days ago of his three star teammates, Ed Roman, Ed Warner and Al Roth. Now he is accused of taking $3,000 to help throw the same three games they did.

Scarcely had Layne been escorted from a classroom by detectives when Dr. Harry L. Wright, president of the college, announced CCNY is suspending basketball for the remainder of the season.

Layne's arrest followed by less than 12 hours the arraignment of Nate Miller of the 1948 Long Island university team.

MILLER WAS released in $5,000 bail for throwing two games.

News Service Says All-America Team Impossible

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 — Due to the gambling fixes which have rocked New York and may reach elsewhere, International News Service will not pick an All-America basketball team for this season.

It would be just a bit too incongruous to dash off to the district attorney's office or the police station to present such honors to some of the favored stars.

The bald, ironical, disillusioning truth is that an All-America for this year would need the stamp of approval from the DA in advance and when a sport reaches that point it no longer is All-America.

Basketball will come back—as baseball did after its terrible sellout in 1919—but right now you wouldn't bet 10 cents any game you ever saw was on the level, much less single out participants there in as All-Americans.

To pick an All-America basketball team under current conditions must require the limit of not only gullibility but also of giving members of such a team credit for past performances that were not valid.

A player not involved in the scandal conceivably could gain All-America recognition by his fine play against the culprits—fine play because they let him look good while dumping the game.

Muha Named Trojan Aide

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28 — Joe Muha, former all-pro linebacker for the Philadelphia Eagles and All-America fullback at Virginia Military Institute in 1942, today rounded out Coach Jess Hill's staff of football assistants at the University of Southern California.

Muha's appointment as backfield coach by Athletic Director Willis O. Hunter gave Hill six aides. Muha, a one-time National Football League punting champion, will assist Walt Hargeseimer with the Trojan backs. He will take up his duties with Spring practice which starts March 28.

Beloit Accepts Tourney Invite

BELOIT, Wis., Feb. 28 — Beloit college, the tiny Wisconsin school with the big scoring punch, prepared today to take the underdog's role in the National Invitation Tournament opening in Madison Square Garden March 10.

Beloit, which accepted a tourney bid yesterday, will be matching its rah-rah spirit and windmill shooting against such giants as St. John's, Arizona, Brigham Young and North Carolina State.

It will be the first trip to an eastern tourney for the small college, which sports a 16-4 record and an 85-points-per-game average.

Sugar Ray Is A Little Peeved At IBC Matchmaker Al Weill

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 — Middleweight Champion Ray Robinson made it clear today that he would rather fight for charity than for New York Matchmaker Al Weill.

Sugar Ray, who defended his welterweight crown against Charlie Fusari for $1 and the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund, announced through his manager, George Gainford, yesterday that he will defend his middleweight title for one franchise against France's Kid Marcel in Paris.

The bout with the 34-year-old Frenchman is to take place between May 14 and 20 and the rest of Robinson's purse is to go to France's Cancer Society.

These charitable contributions are OK as far as the International Boxing Club is concerned, but there is still the matter of Robinson's contract to meet ex-middleweight champ Jake LaMotta in a return bout.

IBC Managing Director Harry Markson denied reports that Sugar is breaking with the organization.

"Robinson has a contract for a return bout with LaMotta. I am sure Robinson will fulfill the terms of that contract," Markson said.

When Robinson took on LaMotta in Chicago Feb. 14, he agreed to give the Bronx Bull a return bout in three months.

Gainford said Robinson will meet LaMotta anytime Jake is willing, but "Ray will not fight for the IBC as long as Weill is matchmaker."

"Weill was loudly rooting for LaMotta during the Chicago fight—and that's only one of his unethical practices we object to," Gainford declared.

Markson pointed out that Robinson's contract is with the IBC "and there is no mention of Weill in it."

Sugar was causing excitement in other parts of the nation.

In San Francisco, Promoter William P. Kyne said that he and Gainford had reached a verbal agreement for a $25,000 guarantee for a Robinson-Joe Maxim light-heavyweight title bout.

The National Boxing Association announced that it will recognize the winner of the Charlie Fusari-Johnny Bratton match in Chicago March 14 as Robinson's successor as welterweight champion.

The IBC wants Fusari, Bratton, Kid Gavilan, Ed Thomas, Billy Graham, Fitzie Pruden and Joe Miceli to engage in a round-robin for the crown.

Cincinnati Zoo Chieftain Has Bears In Hair

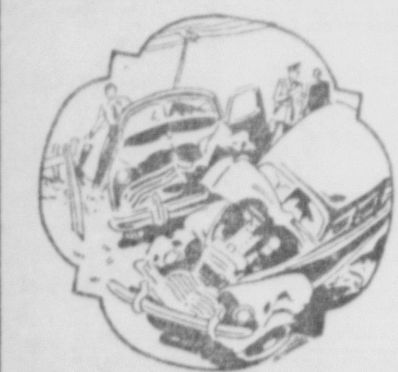

CINCINNATI, Feb. 28—John F. Heusser of Cincinnati has bears in his hair.

Heusser says the Cincinnati Zoo is becoming over-populated with bears and he cannot find any place to sell, send or give them away. He is executive director of the zoo.

Heusser says he has been trying to get rid of two Russian bears for months. And since he started, another Russian bear and two Syrian bears have been born.

The director does not think there is any prejudice because his unwanted animals might be Red-tipped. People just are not interested in bears.

Maybe that is because Ivan and Trishka weigh about 100 pounds each, stand four feet tall and eat a pound of dog food, a pound and a half of raw horse-meat, a quart of mixed vegetables and a loaf of rye bread with molasses every day.

New Rat Killer Found As Result of Blizzard

Professor Link conducts experiment, aided by laboratory assistant.

By GEORGE SMEDAL
Central Press Correspondent

MADISON, Wis.—A story that began during a driving blizzard 11 years ago at Westfield, Wis., has taken a surprising turn in a laboratory at the University of Wisconsin.

The story is of the chemical dicumarol, found by Prof. Karl Paul Link to cause a disease of cattle fed spoiled sweet clover hay. It is now used in hospitals throughout the world to prevent formation of menacing blood clots after surgical operations. It is also used to treat the heart disease that strikes most suddenly of all.

The latest development concerns a chemical cousin of dicumarol named warfarin—a killer showing promise of being the most effective poison yet developed to reduce the threat of epidemic disease and economic loss caused by man's most costly pest—the common rat.

IN THE LATE 1930s Wisconsin's scientists isolated from hay the white chemical that caused the cattle disease. Why, asked Link, couldn't the chemical be used by surgeons to prevent blood clots after surgery, which sometimes travel to the lungs or heart with fatal consequences? Before surgeons could use dicumarol, Link knew, they would need a substance to control its action.

Link and another scientist, Harold Campbell, thought such an antidote existed in alfalfa. And during that January blizzard in 1939, they drove to Westfield at the urgent request of a farmer whose herd lay dying of hemorrhage from the mysterious clover disease.

An alfalfa extract had the herd on its feet in two days. However, the men still did not know what the substance in alfalfa was—or whether it could be put to practical use in medicine.

Link followed a winding scientific trail for the next eight years. Only a hunch and dogged persistence kept him at his work.

But he found the answer: Vitamin K would act as an antidote to an overdose of dicumarol. One of the first doctors to use dicumarol therapy estimated it saved the lives of 73 patients out of 1,868 on whom it was used, and spared 211 the experience of thrombosis and embolism.

THE NUMBER of amputations necessary after the sudden formation of a clot in the leg was cut by 75 per cent. The drug has found use in treatment of coronary thrombosis—the heart attack that most frequently hits those persons who are over 45 and who live and work under tension.

Research to find a better dicumarol brought up warfarin, developed on funds provided by the Wisconsin Alumni Research foundation, which controls the patent in the public interest.

When properly used, warfarin will completely and permanently wipe out rodent colonies, yet it presents little or no hazard to children, pets and domestic animals. It is not a professional's poison. It can be used by anyone.

Declares Link: "Through warfarin, the extermination of rats and mice will be put on a sound scientific basis."

Truman Reveals Desire To Make Parachute Jump

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—President Truman revealed an old ambition today—he wants to make a parachute jump.

The President told a group of airborne soldiers that he would have "hit the silk" earlier, but a general wouldn't let him.

Mr. Truman, talking to a group of men from the 82nd Airborne Division in the rose garden at the White House, told of an incident in 1943 when he was a senator inspecting the airborne fighting branch at Ft. Bragg.

He said:

"I went up with the airborne people and wanted to jump out, and I almost got arrested by the major general because he said he would be court-martialed if I jumped out, so I didn't get to jump."

"I still have that anticipation and I hope someday to do it." The President said he understood the soldiers were in Washington "to see how the Congress works." Quipping, he added:

"Now, you can find that out—and I served ten years with the Congress—you will be a great bunch of young men."
